Entered at the Post Office at Barre as Second Class Matter.

Published every week-day afternoon.
Subscriptions: One year, $3; one month, 25 cents; single copy, 1 cent.
Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1909.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

5,115

These are rare days.

College commencements reveal that not all student activity is athletic.

"Thou shalt not trespass" would be a good railroad law in Vermont.

The Countess of Aberdeen passed through St. Johnsbury, but we have yet to hear from Brattleboro.

With the awarding of 224 degrees yesterday, Tufts is also getting out of the ranks of the "small colleges."

E. W. Morse is one of our highest priced citizens; it took $125,000 to get him out of jail temporarily.

The Burlington News kindly proposes "Hats off to Barre"—big, growing, prosperous Barre. That is cheering, indeed.

One of the oldest as well as one of the most honored graduates is Julia Ward Howe, who at the age of 90 goes from Boston to Providence and receives the degree of doctor of letters.

If the present Mrs. Howard Gould should get her divorce and $250,000 per annum, what self-respecting woman would ever feel like taking the same name should Mr. Gould essay matrimony again?

While Walter Wellman is after the elusive North Pole, his young daughter is equally persistent in her search for a star's place on the stage. The publicity virus is in the Wellman family.

There is one thing for which Vermont may be thankful in the tariff delays at Congress, for it means the greater probability that President Taft will not be detained from attending the Champlain tercentenary in Burlington. So much gain, anyway.

And now Speaker Cannon openly and defiantly says he does not like base ball and does not care if he never sees another game. How much more is it going to take to depose this man?—St. Albans Messenger.

Give the old man another chance. He said that right after he had been stopped for auto speeding while going to a game and then only to see Washington defeated. It rained also that day. So it is not to be wondered at that Cannon was a trifle irascible just then. Put Washington into a winning streak, let the speed laws be set aside and let the rain hold up, and then see what the old man will say.

BISHOP HOPKINS HALL.

It is rather pleasing information that practically the entire amount needed for the endowment of the school has been raised in behalf of Bishop Hopkins Hall, a school for girls at Burlington, and that the balance of the $100,000 is in sight so that the school can be re-opened a year from the coming fall. Those in charge of the institution do well to postpone the re-opening until such time as they are fully assured of the school's ability to continue and maintain a good grade of instruction. It is better to be entirely sure than too hasty. As for the particular field for Bishop Hopkins Hall in Vermont, there can be little doubt. It is for girls only and there is not another institution of the kind in the state so far as we are aware, so that parents who are seeking a semi-private school for their daughters have to send them outside the state. Moreover, the location of the institution is attractive, the building being near the shore of Lake Champlain and affording both the inspiration of the country and the social and educational advantages of a small city. There is no reason why, under good management and with a competent endowment which will probably increase, Bishop Hopkins Hall should not fill an important place in the educational life of the state. While it will be primarily under Episcopal auspices, there will be no doubt that girls of all denominations will be welcomed and that they will find it to their advantage to enter the institution.

A SPECIALIST SAYS.

"Piles Can't Be Thoroughly Cured by Outward Treatment."

Dr. J. S. Leonard of Lincoln, Neb., the celebrated specialist, who has studied every phase of piles, says: "Piles can't be thoroughly cured by ointments, nor any other outside treatment. The cause is internal, and needs internal treatment." Dr. Leonard's perfected Hem-Roid, the first internal pile cure, has cured 98 per cent. of cases. Sold under guarantee at Red Cross Pharmacy, Price $1. Dr. Leonard Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y., prep. Write for booklet.

CURRENT COMMENT

Autos of Size.

The Barre Times notes a gratifying tendency toward smaller automobiles than the big mogul types. In time they will get down to about the size of the average man's pocketbook.—Burlington Free Press.

Montpelier's Opportunity.

Surely Montpelier can be depended upon to do her part in raising the endowment for Montpelier seminary. An educational institution is a direct benefit to any community. The merchants of the Capital city ought to and we believe do appreciate the benefit derived from such a school. The time has come for Montpelier people to give a substantial financial lift. We only wish Waterbury had a like opportunity.—Waterbury Record.

Our Congressmen and The Tariff on Hides.

The Free Press prints in another column a statement by Congressman D. J. Foster and Congressman Frank Plimley with reference to their position on the question of the tariff on hides in response to a letter of inquiry written by ex-Governor J. L. Barlow for publication in this journal a few days ago. Governor Barlow took the position that a duty on hides would benefit the Vermont farmers. The Vermont congressmen say that inasmuch as calf skins and other hides weighing less than twenty-five pounds have been on the free list for many years, a provision on all hides free would have comparatively little influence on the Vermont farmer except indirectly. Other considerations are also presented, which all our readers will desire to peruse for themselves.

The statements made in this communication by Congressman Foster and Plimley serve to emphasize since the difficulty, already stated in these columns, attending any effort to fulfill the promises made by President Taft during his campaign for the presidency regarding a revision of the tariff and the satisfying of constituents with reference to the product in which the various states represented are respectively interested.

In the meantime all must admire the spirit in which the Vermont congressmen have replied to Governor Barlow's query concerning their vote in relation to the duty on hides.—Burlington Free Press.

A Saneer Furth.

It is remarkable, when one gives the subject any thought, that the movement for a quieter, saner observance of the Fourth of July has not made more rapid progress. The ancient Egyptians are held in horror by many good people because they tossed one young girl a year to the crocodiles in the belief that the rise of the Nile depended upon it. The worshipers of Moloch sacrificed a few boys to that cruel god of fire on rare occasions of dire distress; the Athenians, for a time, according to a doubtful legend, sent ten youths a year to Crete as the price of safety for the rest; but the sacrifice to the mistaken patriotism in this enlightened land, and in the twentieth century far exceeds anything that history has recorded of the ancients. According to the figures compiled by the Chicago Tribune, more than five hundred lives have been sacrificed in the celebration of the anniversary of independence in the last ten years, and nearly thirty thousand have been injured. But the figures of the American Medical association, made later in the summer, show a much more terrible account to be charged up to the observance of the day. When tetanus, or lockjaw, has had time to develop, the fatalities are frightfully increased. In the last six years, it appears from the medical association's figures, 1,316 victims of the holiday have died and 27,980 have suffered injury. There is no sort of sound argument, nor reasonable appeal to patriotism or plea for the liberty of the individual that can answer the terrible logic of such figures as these.—Manchester Union.

JINGLES AND JESTS

The Authority.

We are living in the glory
Of a scientific day;
Every hour brings some new story
From a college far away.
If with doubt your brain grows weary
Do not be a growing goner;
Whatsoever may be your query,
Ask the professor.

If you're seeking information
Of the planets in the sky
Or about the population
Of the realm much nearer by,
If through nature's moods so charming
You would be a gay depressor,
Or if you want hints on farming,
Ask the professor.

If you want to get employment,
If you want to catch a crook,
If you want a day's enjoyment,
You must learn it from a book.
When for knowledge you are yearning,
Don't forget the professor,
Of all kinds of curious learning,
Ask the professor.
—Washington Star.

Calls His Bluff.

"Yes," said young Windig, boasting ly, "I pass most of my time between Chicago and New York."
"That's what your cousin told me,"
rejoined Miss Cayenne.
"My cousin?" replied Windig. "W."
"What did she say?"
"She said," replied Miss Cayenne,
"that you lived in a little town in Ohio."—Chicago News.

Recognized.

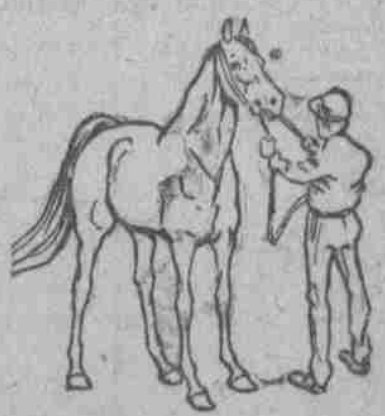

Visitor—I don't see how you can reconcile yourself to being a farmer.
St. Seeler—I couldn't if I didn't see one of you city men once in a while.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Two Merchants.

It was one fellow's hopeful dream
To money make.
He only made, as it would seem,
A sad mistake.
His coat is old; he seldom feeds,
He catered into woman's needs.
Another and a shrewder man,
We must admit,
Evolved or figured out a plan
That made a hit.
Now in his touring car he junks,
He catered into woman's wants.
—Kansas City Journal.

Getting an Early Start.

"Father, what do you wish me to be when I grow up?"
"The same as I am, my son—a lawyer."
"Then, instead of wasting any more time on arithmetic, geography and such trash, I'd better be getting at the hypothetical question, hadn't I?"—Judge.

Dr. B. F. Allen has in his possession an alligator, which has been nine months without eating, during the time it has moved around, but slept a good deal as is its custom during the winter months. Dr. Allen brought the alligator from Florida two years ago. Last September he ate as usual and has not touched any food since that time until Monday, when he became very active and took his first meal.

The Vermont Hosiery and Machinery company, which has been supplied with power and heat by the Rabidun Lumber company, has decided to establish its own plant. To this end the company closed a contract last week for an 80 horse power Fitzgibbons power boiler, which will be placed immediately. The contract was closed by Mr. B. Spooner of Springfield, Mass., who is well and favorably known here, where he has placed other similar work, although this is his largest contract in this town. Mr. Spooner has had wide experience and probably has no superior in this line.

HEART AFFECTION, THAT'S MISS ELKINS' TROUBLE.

That's Why She's Going to Europe—The Duke? Oh, She Won't Meet Him.

Washington, June 17.—Senator Elkins laughs at the suggestion that his daughter, Miss Katherine, is going to Europe to meet the Duke of the Abruzzi. He said yesterday that the young lady had for some time had a slight heart affection, which is always materially augmented by heat, and that her physician had directed that upon the approach of hot weather she should immediately betake herself to the cooler zones of the European continent. She will be accompanied by her mother, and both will leave whenever the temperature here becomes too high for them. The women probably will make a brief visit in West Virginia before beginning their foreign journey. The senator added that the duke was still engaged in his mountain explorations and probably would not return to Europe during the stay there of his wife and daughter.
